Quanjudu roast duck is well known among both domestic and overseas customers. The duck is hung in the oven and roasted by flame burning from fruit-wood; it takes 45 minutes for the duck to be done. The finished duck is characteristic with crispy skin, tender meat and the fragrance from the fruit-wood. It looks wonderful and appealing with a full figure, even claret color and the brightness and shine on the duck skin. It tastes pure and mellow with lotus leaf-shaped cake, scallion slices and sweet sauce jam, leaving a lasting and pleasant aftertaste.

Huaiyang cuisine, from Jiangsu Province in eastern China, was served at the first banquet of the new People's Republic of China in 1949 and is known for its light, sweet, and rarely ever spicy flavors. Wu Ming Ju is one of the most popular destinations in Beijing for sampling this quintessentially Chinese cuisine.
