Climate Adaptation Game from SMHI. Bode Gbobaniyi

Climate Adaptation Game Report

The session was very interesting and interactive. Dr. Bode Gbobaniyi of SMHI nicely presented and conducted the session.

He divided the participants into seven groups. These are Investor, Agriculture, Social awareness, pensioners, tenants association, property owners, nature conservation

This game has the opportunity to build up climate adaptation interventions in a sustainable way in a municipality by the participatory decision-making procedures.

So, all groups can understand the pros and cons of their opinions. They can give their votes. Each group can discuss among themselves and finally give an argument to build up a sustainable municipality.

Participants got a good interest in the game. They are more curious about similar games.

The game helps participants to understand the various perspectives of Global warming and Climate change issues and related awareness.

Keywords. Adaptation, sustainability, agriculture, health, nature conservation.
